SUPREME COURT'S DECISION FINAL

HIGHEST COURT IN STATE RULES
ON THE PRIMARY VOTE FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—The Wisconsin supreme court late Saturday afternoon handed down two decisions of momentous political importance, when it ordered the name of Levi H. Bancroft placed upon the official ballot as the republican nominee for attorney general and sustained the "20 per cent" provision of the primary law.

However, Judge Hancock majority of one, three out of the seven justices—Justices Stuberger, Kerwin and Thulin, dissenting. In the 20 per cent case, Chief Justice Winslow and Justice Thulin dissented.

Both cases were hurried by the court in order that Secretary of State Frear could make up his official ballot today in compliance with the law. Only memorandum decisions were filed.

The court's action in the Bancroft case displaces Charles H. Crowhart of Superior, who was La Follette's campaign manager during the primary campaign and who was chosen as the republican nominee by the new state central committee in place of Frank T. Tucker, deceased. The latter was drowned at Oshkosh a few days before the primary election and rather than see Bancroft nominated the La Follette organization, through Mr. Crowhart himself, gave the word for Tucker just the same. This action was taken in accordance with a provision of the general election law which seemed to fit the situation exactly. Tucker was nominated by a plurality of 18,000 over Bancroft and Henry A. Gunderson of Portage.

The majority of the court, in ordering Bancroft's name placed upon the ticket, holds that the provision of the general election law relating to the filling of vacancies on a ticket were "not important" into the primary election. It also holds that the mass of the voters knew Tucker was dead before they cast their ballots and that "votes which are in form cast for a deceased person by voters who know the fact of his decease cannot be considered as votes for or against any person, but must be regarded as so much blank paper."

The dissenting opinion of Justices Stuberger, Kerwin and Thulin is brief, as follows:

"We are of the opinion that section 34 of the statutes of 1898, pertaining to general elections, is made applicable to primary elections. The legislature provided in the primary election law (Sec. 25, ch. 461, 1903) that:

"The provisions of the holding of elections, the solicitation of voters at the polls, the challenging of voters, the manner of conducting elections, of counting the ballots and making return thereof, and all kindred subjects, shall apply to all primaries in so far as they are consistent with this act, the intent of this act being to place the primary under the regulations and protection of the laws now in force as to elections."

"This section in terms makes section 34 of the statutes of 1898, relating to general elections, applicable to primary elections, and therefore the following provision, in cases where a candidate for nomination on the official ballot at such election dies, governs this case:

"If the nominee die after the ballots are printed, and no nomination shall be made as herein provided, the votes cast for him shall be counted and returned, and if he shall receive a plurality the vacancy shall be filled by him."

SQUATTER LOSES
CHICAGO CLAIM

UNLESS HE CAN PAY $10,000
JUDGMENT TOMORROW.

"CAP" STREETER'S DREAM

And Sovereign Sway Over "Made
Land Along Lake Shore Drive
Believed to Be at an End.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Unless the unexpected should happen and "Cap" Streeter should raise $10,000 before tomorrow noon, to satisfy a judgment for that amount obtained for legal services by his former attorney, W. G. Anderson, the "Captain's" interests or alleged interests in the "desert" of Lake Michigan will be sold to the highest bidder tomorrow noon, under orders of the court. This would put an end to Streeter's squatter career and shatter his dreams of wealth which were based upon his alleged claim to a strip of "made" land along the shore of Lake Michigan extending for several blocks north and south from the foot of Chicago avenue.

"Captain" George Wellington Streeter has been one of the most noted characters in Chicago for more than twenty years. Every child in the city knew him and at times the newspapers were full of the accounts of the sensational doings in "Streeterville" as the renowned "District of Lake Michigan" was popularly called. Streeter's history is quite interesting and of an unusual character. Some where around the southwest end of his early life comparatively little of any interest is on record. It was not until 1888 that Streeter, then running a small vessel, the "Itasca", engaged in general transportation on Lake Michigan, became, in the literal sense of the word a fixture in Chicago. His boat was wrecked or rather stranded upon a sand bar off the foot of Chicago avenue and Streeter, having no other home, remained upon his stranded craft which defied all efforts to remove it from the bed of sand upon which it had found a resting place. In the course of time the presence of the vessel upon the bank caused such changes in the swirling currents along that part of the shore, that the waves of the lake, which in some places greatly swallow the gravel and earth banks along the shore, began to add more sand and gravel to the bank surrounding Streeter's boat. After a while a connection was formed with the land and as the years passed the area of the accretion continued to increase. The city and many contractors and private individuals helped in "making" land by filling in the lagoon between the old shore line and the bank.

Streeter, who continued to live upon the gained ground, fully realized the value of the "made" land and early in the nineties sought to establish his right of ownership to a valuable and steadily growing strip of short land, which adjoined one of the most fashionable sections of the north side of the city. From the authorities in Washington he obtained some kind of a charter for what he called "The District of Lake Michigan" and he became commissioner and in fact the whole government of the new territory. At the Tremont house, where Streeter had been living for a long time, he established his headquarters and there he sold lots in the "desert" to a great many people who had faith in his claims. It is believed that some wealthy citizens were backing Streeter financially, in the hope of making a fortune out of the big land scheme. Although holding no position and having no visible means of support, "Cap" Streeter used to be flush in those days and looked quite imposing in his long black Prince Albert coat and his tall silk hat, when he received his friends at the Tremont House.

But the property-owners along the Lake Shore Drive, fearing that the building up of "Streeterville" would depreciate the value of their property, began a fight in the courts against Streeter and for years the litigation was carried on with varying success. Efforts were made by the city to oust Streeter and his retainers from the "desert," but the "Cap" and grit and defended his alleged property by force of arms against invasion. On one occasion one of the attackers was shot and killed and Streeter was sent to the penitentiary for a year. Attorney W. G. Anderson was instrumental in bringing about Streeter's release and for these and other services he claims $10,000. As Streeter could not pay, Anderson obtained judgment against him, to satisfy which tomorrow's sale is to be held.

DEMOCRATS LOSE OUT ON TICKET

IN ROCK COUNTY AND LIKEWISE THE PROHIBITIONISTS.

SOCIAL DEMOCRATS STAY

In the Ballot Line-Up of Parties and Have the Only Complete County Slate.

Under the supreme court's decision Saturday, upholding the amendment to the primary law which makes it necessary for candidates seeking a place on the regular party ballot to receive twenty per cent of the vote cast by their party for governor at the preceding election both the Democratic and Prohibition tickets have failed to "make good" in Rock county and only the Republican and Social Democratic slates will be lined up under their party designations. The names of all others who filed nomination papers and qualified for the various contests, will be relegated to the designation "Independent." If the Democratic and Prohibition tickets have been on the board, it will be an odd looking, lopsided ballot with several independent columns.

How Parties Fell Short.
Voters of Rock county in 1908 cast 3,120 votes for Alward, Democratic candidate for governor; 402 for W. D. Cox, Prohibition candidate; and 262 for Harvey De Brown, Social Democratic candidate. It was therefore necessary for Rock county Democrats to poll 624 votes for each and every candidate at the recent primary; for the Prohibitionists to roll up 80 votes; and for the Social Democrats to cast 262.

Just how far the Democrats failed to furnish the needed support for their candidates may be gathered from a consideration of some of the totals of the recent primary election. Charles H. Weiss and Thos. Williams, candidates for 17th S. Senator, should have received together at least 624 votes. They got 257—Weiss 164 and Williams 133. Adolph J. Schmitz, candidate for governor, needed 624 and got 346. And so on with the rest of the state ticket. In the first assembly district there were only a few scattering Democratic votes for Republican candidates. In the second district James R. Lamb who needed 624 (that is the ruling of Secretary Freer though he admits that it was not the intention of the framers of the law to require an assembly district to cast 20 per cent of a county's total) received only 120. In the third district John Morrison received only 87 votes. Calvin Stewart for congress had only 303. Not a single candidate for nomination for county officer received 200 votes and such and every one needed at least 624. For instance, Fred Schmidt, candidate for the nomination for county clerk, received only 212; Clark H. Palmer, for county treasurer, only 205; and John J. Dulin, for sheriff, 245.

The Prohibitionists needed 80 votes for their candidates. They cast 71 for Joseph V. Collins as U. S. Senator; 71 for Hyron E. Van Kenen as a candidate for governor; from 61 to 70 for the balance of the state ticket; 66 for Benjamin L. Jeffery as county clerk; 62 for Marcus Kellogg as county treasurer.

Social Democratic Vote.
The Social Democrats held their ranks together so well that they will have the only complete county ticket in the field, as the Republicans failed to nominate candidates for Coroner and County Surveyor. The Social Democrats, however, lost out in the first and second assembly districts, giving Hans Nelson but 18 votes and John R. Horn only 16 in the second. In the third district, however, Raymond Paddock received 67 votes and his name goes on the ticket.

Party Commitment.
All of the parties failed in numerous precincts to write in names for party commitment and the vacancies will have to be filled by such of the commitment as have been named when they meet for organization. Those who have been named are as follows:

REPUBLICAN: Avon, Peter Olson; town of Beloit, G. A. Milton; Bradford, Robert More; Center, C. H. Whitcomb; Clinton, S. S. Jones; town of Janesville, W. E. Schumacher; La Prairie, C. W. Stark; R. C. SUPREME COURT'S DECISION FINAL

as in case of vacancies occurring by death after election.

"Under these provisions the votes cast for Mr. Tucker are legal ballots and must be counted and returned, and when so counted and returned the result shows that neither of the other candidates for nomination for the office of attorney general of the state received as great a number of votes as were cast for him, hence the relator is not entitled to have his name placed on the official ballot as the nominee of his party."

The decision in the case of the 20 per cent law goes more deeply into the question of constitutional right and concludes that, as reasonable regulation of political party organization is a matter within legislative judgment, though subject to judicial review, the requirements of this law are not so arbitrary as to trespass upon constitutional privilege. This law provided that candidates of any party at the primary election must receive at least 20 per cent of the vote for governor at the last preceding general election, and the suits brought to test the law were based on the failure of certain democratic candidates for state senator to receive the number necessary.

Only last week the supreme court of North Dakota knocked out a similar law, but which required a 30 per cent vote of that received at the last preceding general election for secretary of state—increasing the percentage but decreasing the "practical" as nominees for office lower than that for governor usually received a smaller vote than the head of the ticket. However, the democratic ticket in this state, as nearly all the candidates received enough votes at the last state primary to have their name placed on the official ballot.

Congressman Leonard of Superior, Secretary of State Frost, State Treasurer Dahl, Deputy Insurance Commissioner Elmer and Assistant Secretary of State Torgie left here today for Milwaukee where they will attend the meeting of the Republican state central committee tonight and declare themselves strongly favoring the candidacy of C. H. Crowhart as an independent candidate for attorney general.

THEATRE

Adolf Philipp's German musical sensation, "Alma, Wo Wohnst Du?" ("Alma, Where Do You Live?") which has caused more discussion than any other play ever brought to America, will be seen at the Myers Theatre, Tuesday, Oct. 18, matinee and evening. The piece is from the French of Paul Horva, musical setting by Jean Deleque, and adapted to suit American tastes by Adolf Philipp. "Alma, Wo Wohnst Du?" ran for more than one year in New York and comes direct from a long and successful engagement in Chicago. The piece is said to be one of the most wonderful comedies, brimming over with delicious humor.

The entire original Chicago cast will be seen in the different roles. Cora Morona, Emil Berli, Angelo Lippich, Leonard Jacobs, Mario Serina, Fred Kehlback, Tina Hawley, Hans Herbert, Fred Stein, Irma Blume, A. Hedne, and Jacob Brust are among the leading players.

Bee Sting Fatal.

That the sting of a bee may, in certain circumstances, prove fatal within a few minutes is shown by the death of Mr. W. M. Rhind, a builder, of Fulham road, London, who died from shock within half an hour of the time he was stung. It was stated that Mr. Rhind, who was a robust man of about forty years of age, was afraid of bees, as he had been severely stung when a young boy. "It is remarkable indeed, for death to have taken place so soon after the man received the sting," said a medical specialist. "The only explanation is that the shock was made overpoweringly acute by reason of an overmastering dread of a sting. Just as an unexpected good news has proved fatal almost instantly, so a bee sting—a little thing to a normal mind—could be fatal if the fear that accompanied it was sufficiently strong."

AN ILL FATED SHIP.

Mystery and Tragedy That Encompassed the Great Eastern.

There was a mystery about that ill fated ship. Nothing went right with her. She struck at the launch, and it cost an extra $350,000 over and above the sum set aside for the purpose to get her into the water. On her trial trip her boilers burst, killing some of the stokers. Then she ran aground and carried on so outrageously that her crew thought her seriously bowled. She had started badly. While she was building a pay clerk sent by one of the contractors with $5,000 in wages for the men disappeared. It was not unnaturally assumed that he had bolted with the money. His wife and family were left unprotected for, with the stigma of his supposed crime upon them.

Thirty years after her launch the Great Eastern went to the cemetery at Birkenhead to be broken up. While she was being taken to pieces the ship breakers discovered between her inner and outer casings of steel the skeleton of a man. Papers which had fallen from his clothes enabled him fully to be traced. It was the skeleton of the pay clerk who thirty years before had disappeared. There was no money; that was never recovered.

The supposition is that the poor fellow on going on to the ship was pounced upon by workmen who knew that he had the money with him; that they strangled him and, having a small place in the side of the vessel to complete, crammed his body in and built him up in it. No reward would have induced a sailor to sell in that vessel had he known of the terrible secret sealed up in her walls.—Chicago News.

LAFACIO HEARN.

The Way the Writer Got Even With the Heartless Editors.

"Lafacio Hearn, that wonderful writer, worked on newspapers in his youth," said a publisher, "and the ruthless way his studies were changed, cut and butchered was a great waste to his heart."

"In after years Hearn took a malicious joy in collecting stories about editors—editors and their superior and confident ways with manuscript."

"One of his stories was of an editor to whom a subscriber said:

"I enjoyed that poem on the three ages of man in today's paper, Mr. Hearn; I enjoyed it immensely. Do you know, though, I thought that it was originally written the seven ages of man?"

"No it was, sir; so it was," said Editor Hearn promptly. "Yes, the extract was originally written the seven ages of man, but I had to cut it down for lack of space."

"Another story concerned a weather report. A reporter, discussing the weather, wrote that winter still lingered in the lap of spring."

"The editor as he read over the article called the reporter up to his desk and told him that he would cut out that sentence about winter lingering in spring's lap. He said the idea was good enough and original and all that sort of thing, but it would not do to publish because the high moral tone of the paper had to be maintained in a town full of school girls."

DOLLIVER'S HEART CEASES TO BEAT

IOWA SENATOR EXPIRES SUD- DENLY AT IOWA HOME OF HEART TROUBLE.

OVERWORK HASTENS DEATH

Physician, Listening With Stethoscope, Hears Last Beat of Blood Pump—Was Famed as an Orator—Successor Is Discussed.

Fort Dodge, Ia., Oct. 17.—Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver, known as the father of Republican insurgency in the United States senate and recognized as the leader of the progressive wing, died at his home in this city following a week's illness from heart trouble. His death was entirely unexpected and took place while his physician was making an examination of his heart with a stethoscope.

Senator Dolliver's condition had improved steadily for several days. His physicians had said he would recover rapidly from the illness which caused him to take to his bed a week ago, and the examination under way when he breathed his last was thought to be the final one in determining the course of his treatment.

Suffered From Indigestion. He had suffered from acute indigestion. The gas formed in the stomach pressed upon the heart, and it was this strain which resulted in death.

The senator's wife and three children were in his apartments during the examination.

Dr. E. M. Van Patton, who was called in to make an examination with his stethoscope, stood at the side of the chair where the senator sat, counting his heartbeats. Mr. Dolliver was conversing in a cheerful manner. He ceased speaking and the doctor went on counting, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen regular strokes. "That is good," said the senator. "Fourteen is two more years; that is good."

Jonathan P. Dolliver.

Heart Beats Cease. Two more beats of the heart and the physician heard no more. He thought his apparatus was defective and had removed it to shake it when he looked into the senator's face and saw his eyes staring off into space.

Mrs. Dolliver had stepped to the door of the apartment with her son George at the moment and the physician informed her that her husband was dead.

Overwork in the last season of congress is given by the physician as the direct cause of the senator's death. During his illness the senator and his wife insisted that there was nothing serious in his ailment, and the physician expressed the same belief, declaring, however, that the senator must give up his public work.

He, himself, repeatedly said that he was not seriously ill, declaring that if he were it could "not get the wolves howling" and admitting that he had a horror of knowing that the politicians were discussing his successor while he was ill, on the theory that he might die.

Talk of Successor. Nevertheless, within an hour after the senator's death, the question of who his successor would be was the theme of general discussion in political circles. It is predicted that Governor Carroll will not appoint any person to fill the vacancy for the legislature about to be elected next week. Governor Carroll is a candidate for reelection, and it is believed by many that he will announce that he will leave it to the legislature to fill the vacancy.

Health Bad for Months. The senator's ill health began a year and a half ago. Before going to Washington for the last session of congress he was slightly ill, but the trouble was not regarded as especially serious. Last spring he had trouble with one of his eyes and submitted to an operation. A few weeks later word was received here that he was confined to his bed by an illness, the exact nature of which was not made known. It was given out by his intimate friends, however, that he was threatened with a general physical collapse.

At the close of congress Senator Dolliver announced that he would take a long rest and that he would go to New Mexico to recuperate his health. He spent a few weeks in that state, but then returned to Iowa, declaring that Iowa's climate was good enough for him and that he would remain in this state until congress convened again.

Funeral Next Thursday. The funeral of Senator Dolliver will probably be held at two o'clock Thursday. Only tentative arrangements, however, have been made thus far.

Gov. H. F. Carroll has been invited to deliver the funeral oration.

The body will lie in state at the Dolliver home from ten o'clock until two o'clock Thursday. It will be guarded by soldiers of Company G, Iowa National Guard.

Senator's Death Shocks Taft. Beverly, Mass., Oct. 17.—President Taft when informed of the death of Senator Dolliver was greatly shocked by the news, as he had not understood that the senator's illness was serious.

The president sent the following message to Mrs. Dolliver: "Mrs. Taft and I extend to you our heartfelt sympathy in your great sorrow. The senate has lost one of its ablest debaters and most brilliant statesmen. The country has lost a faithful public servant."

"WILLIAM H. TAFT"

Roosevelt Expresses Grief. New York, Oct. 17.—When Col. Theodore Roosevelt learned of the death of Senator Dolliver he said:

"I am deeply grieved and inexpressibly shocked. Senator Dolliver's death is a very great misfortune to the country, especially at this time. I have the most sincere sympathy for his family and for his state and a very real sense of personal loss. He was one of the public men whose character, ability and loyalty to the interests of the people I especially admired."

RAIL STRIKE VIOLENCE GROWS.

Bombs Exploded in Paris, Trains Wrecked by Railway Employees.

Paris, Oct. 17.—Train service is recovering from the effects of the great strike, but acts of violence are increasing. Wires have been cut by the dozens, and there has been rioting at St. Etienne, necessitating police and dragon charges.

An express train for Marseilles has been wrecked by strikers, who removed dispatches from a rail.

There also have been half a dozen bomb explosions. One outrage was committed outside the residence of Director Masard of the Nationalist newspaper Paris. There are heavy property damage, but no casualties resulted. Securely fixed to M. Masard's door was a paper having written upon it:

"First warning from the strikers."

The police raided the anarchist newspaper Libertaire and found three bombs similar to that which exploded a few nights ago in the Rue de Berri in possession of one of the printers. Several arrests were made.

An exceptionally deadly bomb was found in Vincennes and conveyed to a laboratory.

CENSUS FRAUD IS BARED

DIRECTOR DURAND FINDS MANY CITY RETURNS ARE "PADDED."

TAFT ORDERS PROSECUTION

Extension "Double Counting" System Alleged to Have Been Used to Swell Totals—Tacoma, Minneapolis, Seattle and Others Involved.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Gigantic frauds in the census returns of several western cities are shown in a statement issued by Director of the Census Durand and he has ordered a vigorous investigation into the alleged crooked work.

Mr. Durand gave out also a letter from President Taft, directing that persons implicated in the alleged frauds should be prosecuted.

Cities specifically mentioned as being affected by the frauds are: Tacoma, Wash.; Seattle, Wash.; Aberdeen, Wash.; Portland, Ore.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Boise, Idaho; Fort Smith, Ark.

It is stated that there are many others.

Tacoma Is Hit Hard. The result of a second enumeration of Tacoma, Wash., was announced.

The city shows a population of 82,872, an increase of 45,258, or 120 per cent. over the population of 1900.

The first figures turned in for Tacoma were 116,248. In other words, the actual population was padded to the extent of 33,376, which would have meant a further addition of 40 per cent. These additions were made in 24 out of the 73 enumeration districts in Tacoma. In some of these districts the number reported proved to be several times greater than the actual population.

In ten districts the first enumeration showed 23,753 names, whereas the correct number was found to be 11,646.

Use "Phoney" Slips. Director Durand sets forth that padding of the census was brought about mainly through the use of slips printed by private individuals and containing the census questions.

These were distributed very generally on street corners and elsewhere, and were filled out by thousands of people who either had already been enumerated or who were not permanent residents of the city, and not entitled to enumeration there. It is possible that in some cases the names were wholly fictitious.

Vacant Lots Populated. These slips were turned over by the private individuals who collected them, through a special agent of the census bureau named Corwin to 34 of the enumerators, and they under the instructions of Corwin added the names to the enumeration by assigning them as "boarders" or "lodgers" to various houses in their districts. Many names were assigned to vacant lots.

WALTER WELLMAN IN DARING FLIGHT

HUGE DIRIGIBLE STARTS FROM ATLANTIC CITY—IS OFF FOR EUROPE.

CARRIES CREW OF SIX MEN

Airship Equipped With Wireless—Month's Supply of Provisions on Board—Last Message Until Craft Strikes Ships' Course Is Received.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 17.—Walter Wellman, the newspaper man and aroto explorer, with five daring companions are far out to sea in the dirigible balloon America in an endeavor to cross the Atlantic ocean and find a landing place on the European continent.

Wireless dispatches which have been received at intervals since the big dirigible sailed aloft at eight o'clock Saturday morning told of heavy fogs, minor engine troubles and the like, but finally an optimistic note was sounded when the splutter of the wireless announced that Wellman and his crew were doing fine and had finally determined to head for Europe.

Last Wireless Message.

The last message expected from the America until it strikes the transatlantic steamer lane was received at the wireless station at Gloucester on the northerly end of Nantucket and read: "All well. No trouble with machinery. Expect to make the trip. (Signed) 'WELLMAN AND IRWIN.'"

It is believed that Wellman was from 300 to 400 miles off shore and that he was working northerly to get into the steamship track.

The crew aboard the America when it left the shore included Walter Wellman, Melvin Vaniman, chief engineer; F. Murry Himons, navigator of Walter Wellman.

the expedition; J. K. Irwin, wireless operator, in charge of the America's system, and Albert Louis Loud and John Aubert, assistant engineers.

First Believed Only Trial.

The start was made at 8:03 a. m. when the America rose into a fog and disappeared over the ocean, while something over 1,000 men, women and children cheered. The trip was scheduled as a trial flight, but so far as can be learned, through wireless messages sent back, Wellman and his crew decided, within 20 minutes, to start for Europe.

For the last thirty days the public had expectantly awaited some move from the intrepid crew. Day after day it was announced that a trial flight would be made as soon as conditions were perfect. Early this week it was announced that the airship would positively make a trial flight, and when no effort was made to bring the ship out of the big shed the criticism of Wellman became stronger.

Provisions for a Month.

There are six men on the airship and they have provision, mostly of the canned variety, sufficient to last them a month. The only means of cooking is with a small oil stove, but this, Mr. Wellman says, will do all the cooking they require.

The airship's gas bag has something of the shape of a cigar and is 228 feet long. Its width is about fifty feet and is said to be capable of lifting about twelve tons. The envelope carrying the gas weighs more than two tons.

Engines Give Power.

Attached to the big gas bag is a car 155 feet long. The floor of the car is really a large, flat tank, in which the gasoline is stored for the motors. The America carries three gasoline engines, one of which is a donkey and the other two are used for motive power. They are in the center of the car and are of about eighty-horse power. Beneath the car hangs a lifeboat 27 feet long, to be used in case the balloon is wrecked.

Strung beneath the car is a 320-foot-long equilibrium, which takes the place of a drag rope used on balloons. The equilibrium consists of a long steel cable, to which are attached 30 small steel tanks, each carrying 75 pounds of gasoline, and 40 wooden blocks. The blocks are about twenty inches long. The equilibrium makes it unnecessary to carry ballast. It is intended that the balloon shall sail at a height of about 200 feet.

The craft is as thoroughly equipped with instruments for locating positions as are the big ocean liners.

SOUTH SEA TRAMPS' WHARF

Strange Sights That May Be Seen on the Old Meigs Pier in San Francisco.

"When old Henry Meigs built the long pier that juts out from the foot of Telegraph Hill in San Francisco," remarked the Californian, "he probably didn't guess that it was destined to become the most picturesque wharf in the country. He intended it to accommodate his own line of steamers, but in later years he settled in Peru and the wharf fell into other hands.

"While retaining his name, it began to take on a peculiar character. It is now a sort of a Golden Gate than any other pier in San Francisco harbor, and the South Sea tramps found it convenient to dock there. Their patronage became so important that in time it was entirely given over to them and to the other 'rovers' of the sea that drift into San Francisco from the ports of all the world.

"And so it is that you can go down to Meigs' Wharf any afternoon, when the trade wind is blowing from the Pacific, and watch brown Kanaka sailors loading on the decks of boats that reek of coconut oil and strange spice odors. And you can see copra being unloaded, and 'shell' and other products of Polynesia. Or you may chance to find an old-fashioned square rigger in port that has been three months or more coming from New York, by way of the Horn. These boats have no schedules. No one knows when they will drift in through the Golden Gate and pass for a short while under the lee of Telegraph Hill.

"Meigs' Wharf also has the reputation of being the starting point for filibustering expeditions to the Latin American republics, and is always closely watched for smugglers."

RUSSELL TOURING CAR DESTROYED

By Fire Between Edgerton and Stoughton Last Night—Party Had Narrow Escape.

Alex. Russell's touring car which had just been overhauled and refitted at the factory was almost completely destroyed by fire on the road between Edgerton and Stoughton about seven o'clock last evening. Mr. Russell and a party consisting of Miss Edna Kelly of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker were on their way from Madison when the engine broke down and another automobile took the engine and towed it to the factory. The car was started in the morning. The engine started in the rear and had made considerable headway before the owner became aware of it. A woman who went by with a horse and buggy had shouted "stop" but her warning was not noticed and passed unnoticed. All hands turned in and tried to extinguish the flames but only the efforts to save the house cushions and extra tires were successful. The fire may have started from short-circuited wires. Its origin is not definitely known. Mr. Russell had about $1,500 invested in the machine and the insurance is only about $1,000.

ROBERT SLAWSON WAS BADLY HURT

Twelve-Year-Old Boy Cut About Forehead When Automobile Hit Wheel.

In a collision with George A. Crossman's automobile at Bluff and East Milwaukee streets about six o'clock last night, Robert Slawson, twelve years old, was thrown from the bicycle he was riding, his forehead cut and considerably bruised and hurt about the knees and body. The bicyclist was smashed. Young Slawson was riding up the street on the wheel and Crossman was driving his car in the opposite direction. At the corner of Bluff streets, it is said, the boy turned off a little to the right to allow the auto to pass, but the driver attempted to turn the corner and struck the wheel. The boy had profusely. He was picked up by passersby and carried to the People's Drug company where first aid was administered and an attorney named to find a doctor. Dr. G. W. Riffled was summoned and took two stitches in the boy's forehead and the lad was taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. Frances Slawson, 530 Milton avenue. He is much better today, but is still weak from the effects of his injuries.

Runaway, Yesterday. A horse and single rig used by Dr. Edith Haytlett in making her professional calls, got beyond the control of Lee Harniss, a bellboy employed at the Myers Hotel who was driving it to the barn Sunday morning and started from Main street up East Milwaukee street, a survey in which Morris Clark, who lives on the Woodruff farm, was riding was just ahead of the way of the other rig, a collision followed in which the right rear wheel of Clark's carriage was demolished.

The "Submerged Tenth." The experience of all schemes for the relief of distress due to unemployment clearly proved that the great majority of the unemployed, or at least those who sought relief from distress, were very markedly inferior both as regards their industrial capacity and their physical and moral qualifications to the average employed workmen in the same trades.

Mrs. Margaret Smith, an early pioneer of Rock county, passed away at the home of her son, John C. Smith, in the town of Center, at eight o'clock Sunday morning. The infirmities of old age caused her death after a illness of three weeks. Mrs. Smith had reached the advanced age of eighty-one years. She was born in Sullivan county, New York, and moved to the town of Center in the early "forties" where she has since resided.

The loss of a loving and affectionate mother is mourned by ten children: James Harrison, Auburn, Kansas; Henry Goldsmith, Middletown, N. Y.; Wm. Goldsmith, Arhol, Kan.; Mrs. Jane Emmons, Ontario, Cal.; Mrs. Sarah Worthing, Overton, Neb.; Mrs. Rebecca Smith, Lexington, Neb.; Mrs. Maria Harrison, George, John and Charles Goldsmith residing in Rock county.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Ambrose from the home of John Goldsmith at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Theodore Ottman, another old time resident, died at his home, 821 First street, at 4:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Mr. Ottman was born in 1829 and came to Wisconsin from his old home in Schenectady county, New York in 1858. He retired from his farm near the city a few years ago and purchased a home in the second ward where he has since resided with his wife, Mrs. Jennie Ottman. Mr. Ottman never married.

"The family were old time Methodists, and a year ago Mr. Ottman presented the Carroll Memorial church with $4,000 to clear it from liabilities incurred in building. His interest in the church was of the practical sort and in keeping with the methodist spirit. He died after a brief illness.

While death came after a brief illness, his health had long been impaired as the result of advancing years, and a weakened heart was open to the strain of an acute attack.

Two sisters survive: Mrs. Edwin Davis of New York, and Miss Jennie Ottman of Janesville. The funeral was held at the home at 2:30 this afternoon, the Rev. T. D. Williams, pastor of Carroll Memorial Methodist church officiating. The bearers were Peter Jamieson, N. L. Milliken, S. C. Durham and H. P. Bliss. Interment was made at Oak Hill.

Lonely Life in the Temple.

Residence in That Famous Old Locality in London Is Not Altogether Pleasant.

The sinister side of life in the temple in London has lately been revived as a topic of the hour by a case of suicide in some chambers looking down on the peaceful resting place of Oliver Goldsmith. But every imaginative visitor who spends a few nights within the precincts of that lonely refuge from the hubbub of Fleet street must be impressed by it.

The sense of peacefulness is there, but added to it that of remoteness and loneliness. From the time the wicket in the great door is opened by the porter and slammed behind you the feeling of being cut off from the busy world outside grows and grows until it becomes positively oppressive. The silence of the empty courts is only broken by the weird rattling of the plane trees and the echo of your footfalls as you traverse the erstwhile busy spaces.

Regiments of untidy cats, mostly black, as becomes the locality, slink around corners in narrow passages that seem specially made for their furtive ways. Who knows what may come round that crazy corner at Lamb's building? Who knows what has come round it? On the thin strip of green churchyard beside the ancient church you can see a few medieval gravestones lying long and narrow, reminiscent of the early Templars.

When a person is weary and tired this ancient place, with its secrets, its inscrutable faces and the loneliness and mystery of the hidden life around you, can be very sinister. The story told at the inquest upon the friendless man found shot through the heart in his Pump Court chambers might have had any place for its setting, but somehow it seems more significant in a Temple court.

Women as Smugglers.
Smuggling never will go out of fashion among women until some sort of odium shall attach to this form of law-breaking. In some instances fines of impressive magnitude have been imposed, but in such cases upon offenders rich enough to pay them without embarrassment. There are feminine travelers to whom notoriety is not distasteful, and who, if, forced to pay duty, regard the price as not extortionate when the space devoted to the incident by the newspaper is taken into consideration. There are others who consider detection by customs officials as an impertinence or a joke, and in no manner discreditable to themselves. These same women would never be stirred by the impulse to engage in shoplifting. —Philadelphia Ledger.

"Guernsey" Earthenware

Brown—White Lined—Enameled

Cooking and Serving Dishes

That pottery has a distinctive and lasting charm no one denies. The fascination for earthen pots, pans, whirrs, and grith dishes, ramequins, and casseroles lies partly in the romance that clusters around everything connected with the dim past.

The modern housekeeper has begun to learn that there are ways of cooking food other than by boiling, broiling, or roasting, all of which processes call for high heat. She has come to know that long, slow cooking at a gentle heat, best conserves the nutritive elements of food and the flavors that render it most agreeable to us.

The new earthenware is almost indispensable. Any one of the many preparations that can be prepared in them changes the nature of an ordinary commonplace meal and gives it an air of elegance and distinction.

"Guernsey" wares are made in the highest grade of earthenware. The exterior appearance is a rich brown with a spotless white enamel interior, being highly polished, thus odor and flavor are retained and all the dishes are perfectly safe for use in the oven. They are absolutely sanitary and well proof.

Fur Opening Friday and Saturday

WATCH US GROW.

Open Wednesday and Saturday Evenings.

We never have intentionally made a misstatement to a customer or our in advertising regarding any merchandise sold by us. Quality and style are the first things we consider. PRICE LAST. But here is one incident that shows that our prices are also RIGHT.

We sold to a lady last fall, a set of Mink Furs for $55.00, at what we consider an honest profit. The lady's daughter bought a set at another store for $100.00. Now that in itself does not mean anything. But this spring they took their furs to Carson Pirie Scott & Co., of Chicago, to put in storage for the summer. They were anxious to know if they got good values for their money. They were told by the fur buyer that the set for which they paid $55.00 was more valuable than the one for which they paid $100. The lady was so pleased that she took the first opportunity to let us know the circumstance.

YOU, who are going to buy Furs this fall, will do well to give our store some earnest consideration.

Remember--If you are not a judge of furs, You are assured of good merchandise at a fair price.

If you know all about furs, we are assured of your patronage if you will examine our stock.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

THE APPENDICITIS SCOURGE

Operation for appendicitis has been performed upon two physicians in a city of 30,000 population within six months past, in diagnosing that the cause of appendicitis is not known, or that it is not avoided. One of them, a valued health officer, had been troubled with the disease before,
the other is an able specialist.
Improper diet and insufficient exercise are the obvious causes of appendicitis, admitting that Professor Metchnikoff and Doctor Doyen are correct in concluding that it is, like consumption, typhoid, and other nutritional diseases, a specific germ,
and that it is contagious as Doctor Hood, an English specialist and others are now maintaining.
Inflammation of the appendix is caused by fermentation or putrefaction of food in the alimentary canal, and when there is congestion, due to sluggish action, appendicitis, serious enough to require operation, is liable to follow. A well-known Boston physician insists that operation
for appendicitis should be regarded as malpractice, but so long as prevention seems to be disregarded, it may be best to remove the comparatively obsolete appendix. Of all the sources of appendicitis, the most profuse is the mixture of meat
and fine white fresh bread,
with insufficient exercise, especially walking. Can anyone report a case of a mail carrier, or a peddler being afflicted with this disease, even though his diet be no better than the average?

A STABLE FAITH.
AN UNSTABLE AGE

WAS THE SUBJECT OF REV.
LAUGHLIN'S SERMON YES-TERDAY MORNING.

GUARD AGAINST SKEPTICISM

A Firm Conviction and Continued Enthusiasm in Our Faith Will Make It Stable.

Rev. J. W. Laughlin delivered a very forceful sermon yesterday morning at the Presbyterian church on the subject, "A Stable Faith in an Unstable Time." He dealt with the doubts which beset people in their struggle for a faith which will stand the tests which are submitted by the skeptics of the present day. His text was chosen from the first chapter of II Timothy, parts of the 10, 11 and 12 verses. "For the which cause I also suffered these things; nevertheless I am not ashamed; for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day."
Rev. Laughlin spoke in part as follows:

Every man has a certain youthful enthusiasm in expounding a newly found faith, but the sure test of the faith is whether he can retain that enthusiasm to the end of his life. Mr.
Gladstone is an example of a man whose early zeal for the Christian faith did not wane but remained strong till the end. Sometimes we are inclined to think that this is a stopion-age, and one in which it is impossible to have a stable and sure faith. In many respects it is true that this is a doubting time; the old theories in law, science and education and in religion have been shaken by new discoveries, and it becomes doubly hard for a man to have a stable faith.
But as a matter of fact the handicap is not as great as in Paul's time.
Then, law, custom, and nearly all the people were against him yet he retained his trust in the new-found faith.

We believe some things because we are told or because we read about them. We read in books that certain things are so and as everyone seems to accept them as true we do not stop to demonstrate for ourselves. But the truth of some things can only be ascertained by experience. We can think, reason, and talk about only those matters which are in the sphere of our experience. We know that we exist, think, and communicate our thoughts and no one can reason us out of it. As it is true for the South Sea Islander to believe that water may become frozen and solid. So it is with the man who has not experienced the ecstasy of prayer and the inspiration of God; he can not realize the truth of those things, but all the skeptics in the world can not reason
a man out of his belief if he has once experienced its truth.

Paul was first inspired to rid the world of the Christian heresy, but before he accomplished his task a revolution came. He saw two things, first, he saw Christ and saw that He was not dead, and second, he saw that Christ and the Church were inseparable and identical. From the time of that experience on Paul was on fire
to spread the gospel of Christ.

A stable faith must not only be a matter of experience but it must be attached to some individual. Sometimes say they recognized certain great principles of life but in order for those principles to become real they must be embodied in a man who acts and does them. Principles of Christianity never moved the world until they were embodied in the man Christ. Many a man charged with truth, integrity, and uprightness has passed his spirit on to another as an electric current may be induced, or as some picture may inspire those who see it. In the same way the face of Christ inspires all those who have seen.

A stable faith appeals to the intellect and reason. Sometimes we may think that religion is unreasonable, but it is only because it is beyond our experience and power of thought. We are not qualified to deny it because our experience is limited. But there is something deeper than the mind;
it is said that there has been but little development since Socrates' time, but the power of the heart, of love, of humanity, has grown. We need to rely on someone to keep our feelings
and affections right.

Paul's purpose was to take four out of our lives. Paul was not afraid and that is how he had a stable faith in an unstable time. Of all things the Christian religion is sure to take four out of the heart and we may be able to say with Paul, "I know Him whom I have believed and I know that He is able to keep that which I have committed to Him."

A COUNTY PIONEER
CLAIMED BY DEATH

Mrs. Charles B. Harden of Evansville, a Resident of the County for Fifty Years, Died Saturday.

Evansville, Oct. 17.—Mrs. Charles B. Harden, one of Evansville's best known and most respected residents, passed quietly to the home beyond at one o'clock Saturday afternoon at her home on Madison street. Although Mrs. Harden had been a sufferer from rheumatism and heart trouble for several months she was able to accompany her husband to Belvidere about two weeks ago to visit their son, Orville, and had been at his home but a few days when she was taken worse,
and it was not until last Friday that the family became alarmed. Her daughters, Mesdames Lee, Walcott and Patton, were notified of her condition
and left at once to assist in caring for her. They found her in a weakened condition, but her greatest desire was to return to her home in Evansville and the attending physician decided it would be safe for her to make the journey. They arrived here on the noon train and she was carried into her home and tenderly placed in an easy chair when she passed back and in a moment had peacefully passed the great divide.

Colinda H. Sedgewick was born in Oneida county, New York, Jan. 2, 1827,
and was united in marriage to Charles
B. Harden, Oct. 19, 1845 at Canastota,
N. Y., and had she lived until next Wednesday the couple would have celebrated their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary. To this union were born six children, two of whom have preceded their mother in death—Meceta,
who died when a child, and Minnie,
who departed this life in 1882. Mr.
and Mrs. Harden came to Wisconsin in 1855 and lived on a farm in the town of Porter until thirty years ago
when they came to Evansville.

Mrs. Harden was more than seventy years of age and more than seventy years had been an active and valuable worker in the Methodist church.
During their residence in the town of Porter their home was about five miles from Edgerton where they attended church, and it was a pleasant sight to see the mother and father surrounded by their eight children as they assembled together in the house of worship. Mrs. Harden was of a kind, lovable disposition and was ever ready to offer her services in time of sickness and sorrow and her death
will be mourned not only by her immediate family, but all who knew her.
She is survived by her husband, four daughters, Mrs. William Lee, Mrs. M.
Walton, Mrs. Emma Van Patton of this city, and Mrs. Marian Jones, Orville of Iowa City, Ill.; three sons, Orville
of Belvidere, Ill.; George of Rockford,
and Levi of South Bend, this city,
together with sixteen grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. The funeral will be held in the Methodist church Monday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock. Rev. C. A. Coon officiating.
Messrs. William Stevens, Henry Austin, S. E. Barnard, O. D. Chapin, C.

Moore and O. C. Goodnow will act
as bearers and interment will be made in Maple Hill cemetery.

Personal Mention.

The children and grandchildren of Mrs. Sarah Johnson gave her a surprise last Friday evening in honor of her seventy-fifth birthday. There were about fifteen present and after supper had been served the guests
spent a pleasant evening visiting.
During the day Mrs. Johnson received forty-one post cards. Mrs. Clarence Walker of Brooklyn was one of those present.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark of Havabo were Evansville visitors on Friday.

A public dance will be held in the opera house Wednesday evening, Oct.
19. Music will be furnished by Knerr and Hatch's orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Barnum were over Sunday guests of relatives in Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Apfel and son, Porty, are spending a few days with relatives in Belvidere.

RYAN'S KICK WON
SATURDAY'S GAME

Place Kick by Fullback for Janesville
Gave Them Victory Over Jefferson High School Eleven.

The first victory of the high school football eleven this season was won on Saturday when the players battled for supremacy with the Jefferson high school squad and finally defeated their opponents, 3 to 0. The winning score was made on a kick thirty-five yards from the Jefferson goal in the third quarter of the contest. Two previous attempts to score in a like manner had failed but the third was successful.

Janesville played a fine game in places. Some spectacular gains were made on runs and forward passes, but
the team failed to gain consistently,
so as to secure a touchdown. The line seemed to be a little weak except at the ends, but the backfield was strong.
Jefferson's exhibition of the game was strong and spirited throughout. By blocking a punt, Jefferson advanced to Janesville's five-yard line, but Janesville held firm as a stone wall,
and Jefferson could not gain an inch.
Edler was perhaps the star of the game, both on offense and defense.
Some spectacular runs and perfect
tackling was made by him. Korst, quarterback, showed heavy work in running the team. On next Saturday, according to the present arrangements, the local squad will be in Delaware to play against the team from the Deaf and Dumb school.

The lineup of the teams:
Janesville: Kelly, rg; Falter, rt;
Punkhurst, rg; Cannon, lg; Davidson and Pufahl, lg; Mott, lt; Grant and Connell, lg; Korst, qb; Brown, rhb;

CLEVER PRODUCTION
FOR HENRY WOODRUFF

"The Genius" Proves To Be Most Acceptable Offering at the Myers Theatre Saturday.

Henry Woodruff, in "The Genius" proved a most acceptable offering at the Myers theatre Saturday matinee and evening. The play itself is catchy, the lines clever, the musical portion good and the acting of the principles all that could be demanded
of the most critical theatre goer.
Woodruff can not sing himself but he is a finished actor and the rest of the company is so well balanced that one forgets his attempts in laughing at the situations and enjoying one of the most finished productions that has been seen in Janesville for many years.

The plot is clever. Woodruff, as Jack Spencer, desired to become a painter, a musician and a sculptor to gain his ends, and ultimately to win
the hand of a young "Delectante," of being recognized as a genius in these three branches of the world of art.
His plot succeeds, but unfortunately he falls in love with the model and word of the three conspirators which complicates matters and the whole story hinges around this situation.

Woodruff has clever lines to say and unique situations to meet but finally emerges, still the genius but assured of the love of the girl he finds he wants. Theodor Donohed takes the part of the French painter most acceptably. Charles Wellesley, as the sculptor proved clever, with Henry Hirshburg as the musician was true
to life.

The first act took the audience into the studio of the three artists in Washington Square, New York, where the men are discovered starving, in fact painting the picture of him and eggs on plates to deceive visitors that they had eaten. All this is due to a criticism of Porevial Clatterbush, a celebrated connoisseur of art who has criticized their work. To them comes Woodruff seeking education in the realm of art in three lessons. Here the plot is formed and the men sell their works and their teachings to the young millionaire.

The second act takes the four into the home of "The Genius" on Fifth avenue, with its callers seeking autographs desiring to become pupils and otherwise showing their devotion to the genius, whom Clatterbush has discovered. Here "The Genius" makes known his love for the model and here his "Delectante" friend compels him to announce his engagement to her rather than permit the completing of herself by being found alone
with him in his studio.

The third act is at a reception in a fashionable home on Riverside drive and "The Genius" tried of all the deception, wishing only the love of the "Model" seeks to tell the assembled guests he is a fraud only to be considered an erratic genius although he has finally gained his end by convincing
his "Delectante" friend that a genius would never marry the girl he loves
and in the end all comes out right.

Costumes, dancing, what there is of it and a perfectly drilled chorus adds to the play. The stage settings were most elaborate and the added musical numbers which did not appear in the play when produced by Nat Goodwin several seasons ago. Those who saw it with Goodwin would hardly recognize it with Woodruff in the title role.

HAPPILY MARRIED
ON WEDNESDAY LAST

Miss Besse Lewis of Mount Pleasant
Became the Bride of Mr. Howard Loflin of Tennessee.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Mount Pleasant, Oct. 15.—A pretty wedding of the season took place
Wednesday at noon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Lewis when their daughter, Miss Besse Bernice, became the bride of Mr. Howard Loflin of Madison, Tennessee. The bride and party stood in an arch of lavender and white filled in with autumn leaves
while the Rev. Oberholzer of Madison, Wis., performed the ceremony in the presence of about seventy-five guests. Loflin's wedding march was played by Miss Josephine Parkin.
The bride was handsomely attired in a gown of white messaline and wore orange blossoms in her hair. The maid of honor, Miss Besse Silver, a cousin, was dressed in lavender and Jesse Lewis, brother, acted as best man. At the conclusion of the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served in three courses by six young lady cousins of the bride.
The decorations in the dining room
were carried out in red and white.
For some time the bride has been a teacher in the academy at Madison, Tenn., and it was here that she met her husband who is also an instructor there. The happy couple left the same afternoon for the Tennessee city where for the present they will make their home, but expect soon to be called as medical missionaries to foreign countries. Among the out of town guests present were Mrs. Ellen Harden of Mount Ayre, Iowa; Mrs.
Silas Loveland, Corona, S. Dakota; Caradog Lewis, Grand, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Lewis and son, Harold,
Mrs. Martha Hansen and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Parkin of Evansville.

"It had been exceedingly nervo-

"The change from coffee to Postum

"I have known several to begin the

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Gazette, Oct. 17, 1870.—The religious services at the morning session of the twenty-fourth annual conference of the M. E. church were conducted by Rev. Mr. Harrington of the Rock River conference. The morning session was occupied almost wholly by the reports of committees.

Mr. Jas. A. Webb starts for the east tonight for the purpose of purchasing holiday goods.

Rev. G. C. Haddock, of Appleton, who preached an excellent sermon at the Court street M. E. church last evening was formerly a resident of this city. He followed the occupation of a printer and was for some time employed as a foreman of the Gazette office. Many of the older residents of the city will recall him as the author of a book of campaign songs during the presidential struggle of 1850.

The two internal revenue divisions of Rock county have been consolidated, and Mr. L. M. Hammond appointed assistant assessor for the whole. This follows Mr. B. P. King of Detroit, from further duty in that department, and he will be enabled in the future to devote his whole time to the democratic party on whose ticket he was recently placed as a candidate for the office of state senator.

One of our ward schools is in rebellion. Too close an attention to the science of governing children is ascribed as the cause.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Education this evening.

The clothing establishment of Mr. Wm. Irwin, is entering into the fall trade with a fine stock of excellent goods.

The Methodist conference closes its session this evening.

The Right to Die.
The man who has killed himself on Monday would on Saturday have wanted to live; but one only kills one's self once. Man's life is made up of past, present and future; so life must be a burden to him, if not for the past, the present and the future, at least for the present and the future. If it is only a burden for the present he is sacrificing the future. The evils of one day do not authorize him to sacrifice the life that is ahead of him. Only the man whose life is unhappy and who could have the certainty—which is impossible—that it will always be so, and that conditions and desires will never change, either through modification of circumstances and situations or through habit and the lapse of time—when again is impossible—only this man would have the right to kill himself.—Napoleon Bonaparte.

SURELY MAKES KIDNEYS ACT FINE AND ENDS MISERY FROM BACKACHE

A few doses of Papo's Diuretic will regulate the kidneys and cure bladder trouble.

Kidney disease is the most dangerous, because the first symptoms are seen in other parts of the body before anything wrong is noticed with the kidneys themselves.

Some of the symptoms, though, cannot be mistaken; for instance, sick, unhealthy kidneys cause thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of burning. The back aches constantly, or there is dull misery in the sides and loins, head aches and dizzy spells may occur, nervous twitches, disturbed sleep, inflammation of the eyes, weakness, bilious stomach, heart palpitations or the sufferer is often weighed down by a feeling of languor or fatigue.

The time to cure kidney trouble is while it is only trouble—before it settles into Diabetes, Dropsy, Gravel or Bright's disease. The moment you suspect the slightest kidney, bladder or urinary disorder begin taking Papo's Diuretic as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so prompt and thorough a cure.

Don't be miserable and remain in danger of another moment because of a lame back or sluggish, inactive kidneys or bladder or urinary misery; all this will surely go after you take Papo's Diuretic for a few days.

Your physician, pharmacist, druggist or any respectable agency will vouch for the responsibility of Papo, Thompson & Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio, who prepare Papo's Diuretic—50 cent treatment—sold by every druggist in the world.

KETCHEL THE PUGILIST IS SHOT AND KILLED

Champion Middleweight Fighter Dies at Hands of Ranch Employee—Slayer Jailed.

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 17.—Stanley Ketchel, the middleweight champion prize fighter of the world, was shot and killed on the ranch of R. P. Dickerson, forty miles east of here, by Walter A. Hartz, an employee of Mr. Dickerson.

Hartz, whose real name is Dwyer, made his escape but was later arrested at a farmhouse in the foothills of the Ozark mountains.

He said he killed Ketchel because he was afraid of the prize fighter, knowing that he was armed with a revolver and also because Ketchel had made improper remarks to Goldie Smith, the cook at Dickerson's ranch. The Smith woman is also under arrest as an accomplice to the killing.

There were no witnesses to the shooting, and as Ketchel almost immediately dropped into unconsciousness, the exact events leading up to the assault were hard to determine. Hartz was a new employee on the ranch of Dickerson, who is a friend of Ketchel.

Mr. Dickerson was in Springfield when the news of the shooting was flashed from Conway. He left on a special train for Conway, and on arriving at his ranch took the injured pugilist to this city on a special. Surgeons made a vain effort to locate the bullet, which entered the left lung.

One version of the assault is that the trouble between Ketchel and Hartz started when the pugilist upbraided the ranch hand for beating a horse.

"My husband separated from me at our home in New York on June 30, 1906, and I have not seen him since. He has never offered to return. I never gave him the slightest cause. He said he wanted to devote the rest of his life to his work, to be free to do as he pleased and not subject to any criticism.

"I have earned my own support ever since. His salary is $100,000 for a season of 40 weeks. We have no children and I ask no alimony. There is no property division."

HITS THREE NAMES IDEA, COURT DENIES WRIT

Illinois Supreme Tribunal Upholds House Nominations Already Provided—Bench Divided.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—The Illinois supreme court decided against the "nominee three" idea and upheld a number of house nominations decided upon by the senatorial committee. In the various districts before the primaries. The bench, however, was not unanimous in the decision, being divided four to three.

The decision does not pass upon the constitutionality of the "little" primary act covering nominations for the legislature. It is, instead, an interpretation of the act, the court denying the petition of Charles M. Kappay and Joseph A. McInerney of Chicago, asking for a mandamus writ ordering the state canvassing board to certify the three highest candidates of each party at the primaries for places on the ballots for the house at the November elections.

Whether a majority of the court regarded the law as valid was not indicated in the brief statement made from the bench by Chief Justice Vickers. He said:

"A majority of the court are of the opinion that the writ should be denied, and this is the judgment of the court. The members thus agreeing are Justices Cook, Farmer, Hand, and Vickers. The minority, consisting of the other members of the court, think the writ ought to issue. An opinion will be filed hereafter setting forth the reasons for the conclusion announced."

After the decision had been given the state canvassing board ordered that certificates issue in accordance with its former action, and Secretary of State Rose commenced making up the ticket. The proceedings filed in the circuit court here will not interfere with the plans for the election, as they will not be finally adjudicated until after the election is held. Attorney General Stoddard will file a demurrer to the petition in the circuit court, and if that tribunal holds against him an appeal will be prosecuted.

FLY FROM FRANCE TO LONDON.

Dirigible Carries Seven People 195 Miles in Six Hours.

London, Oct. 17.—The French dirigible balloon Clement-Bayard made a voyage from Compiègne to London in six hours, a journey requiring seven hours by the fastest express train and boats. Compiègne is 46 miles northeast of Paris, and about 195 miles by air route to London.

This is the first occasion on which a dirigible balloon has crossed the English channel. The over water route occupied 46 minutes.

The dirigible carried seven people. The behavior of the dirigible was splendid and the 410 horsepower worked to perfection. The travelers experienced no discomfort and were troubled only by the haze and mist in crossing the channel.

There was no stop on the trip, and the landing was made at Wormwood Scrubs.

Meaning of "Clubman."

In the far spread New York of today the public takes less interest in the private affairs of the children of Vanity Fair than it used to do. And so it is elsewhere. You may see the splash in a pond; it is lost in the ocean which is a modern metropolis. Today the term "clubman" means nothing. In the days that are no more it was a definition that stood for something.

"You'll Succeed In Janesville."

Why can't it be possible to have the down town blocks lighted with bright, metropolitan and artistic Post's by Christmas time?

In the many cities that have adopted this new form of additional street lighting, lights are turned on at dusk and turned off at either 11 or 12 o'clock.

These posts and the installation are figured on a basis of so much per foot and the cost of this work is divided between the property owners and storekeepers. Then the maintenance charges are taken care of by the storekeepers. This is the plan used in practically all cases where this new metropolitan system of Post Lighting has been adopted and put into use.

In cities where the streets are closed at 5:30 in the evening, the idea of having Posts and look around at the show windows. This, with the important feature that Posts add to the beauty and attractiveness of the streets, is incentive enough for having this new system of street lighting.

Let's have Janesville business streets lighted with Post Lights.
